KILLING OF A DEER

The big event of a sportsman's life came to George W. Williams last Wednesday, when he brought down a fine buck deer while hunting with a party of friends near Minnehaha Springs in Pocahontas county. To prove it he brought the head and hide to be mounted, and a quarter of the meat to be eaten.

In the party hunting with Mr. Williams were his son, George W. Jr., Deputy Game Warden Andrews, of Fayette county, W. Frank Shout, of Clarkeburg, W. L. Herold, Lock Herold, Letcher Herold and J. I. Lee, all of Minnehaha Springs.

The animal was killed on the second day out. Mr. Williams using a .300 rifle at 200 to 250 yards. The deer was two years old, with antlers 18 inches long, and weighed 100 or 60 yards away in the brush. Father and son were together, and both sighted him about the same time. Before he presented a target, the buck had run some distance into an open space, and was brought down with a bullet through the shoulders.

Mr. Williams has been a member of the Allegheny Sportsman's Association, with a club house at Minnehaha Springs, for some years, and has frequently hunted over its game preserve, but never before had the luck to get a deer. —Raleigh Register.

To the Editor of the Raleigh Register: Having noticed in your Sunday edition a statement that I had killed a deer in Pocahontas county, I write not only to plead guilty but to correct certain statements with reference to what was said in the article as well as to express my good feeling toward those in the party at the time of the killing.

I note that you say I have been a member of the Allegheny Sportsman's Association for some years and that I have frequently hunted over its game preserve. I have been a member of the Allegheny Sportsman's Association and the Great Mountain Club for a number of years, but had never before hunted upon any of the property for any kind of game.

I went to the club house at Minnehaha Springs in company with my son, Wentworth, on the afternoon of the 30th of October, and killed the deer which was a two year old buck weighing one hundred and thirty-four pounds and having horns 10 1/2 inches in length, at about 8:30 o'clock, on the morning of the 31st. The only one present at the time I shot the deer which was as stated, at a distance of from 200 to 250 yards and with a 303 Savage rifle, was my son, but hunting in the party with us were Deputy Game Warden Andrews, of Fayette county, W. Frank Shout, of Clarkeburg, W. L. Herold, Letcher Herold, J. I. Lee and Lock Herold who was in charge of the hunt. All the latter named parties being from the vicinity of Minnehaha Springs.

I was informed that it was a rule long since established in the club that the party killing the deer was entitled to only the horns and hide for the purpose of mounting. By this method I would have been entitled only to that portion of the meat that would have been allotted to my son, that being 1-7 but owing to the generosity of the gentlemen hunting with us and upon request by me, I was allowed to have in addition to the horns and hide, a hind quarter of the kill.

First not only I, but a number of my friends are indebted to the gentlemen, and I want to thank them for the kindness and generosity in this matter and take this means of conveying my appreciation, but I want to also express the gratitude of myself and son to our host, Mr. H. M. Lockridge, who is at this time caring for the club house at Minnehaha Springs. He not only knows how to care for his guest but if you leave his table hungry at any time it will unquestionably be your fault rather than his. I can certainly say to any member of the club that a hearty welcome awaits them and a good time is assured should they visit the club at any time while Mr. Lockridge is in charge.

Yours very truly,
George W. Williams.

The Supreme Court has denied a rehearing in the case of State against George Pritt. At the last April term of the Pocahontas Circuit court Pritt was found guilty of running over a little girl in Marlinton with an automobile. He was drinking at the time. He was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary.

Dennis, "he played his part as a soldier of the south in the war between the States" and was a prominent and respected citizen of his county and State.

TOWN ELECTION

The annual town election will be held next Thursday, January 3. The Democratic ticket has been withdrawn entirely. H. L. Byers has withdrawn for councilman and Neal Baxter has been substituted in his stead. Otherwise the ballot is the same as printed elsewhere in this paper.

McLAUGHLIN-YEAGER

Fred F. McLaughlin and Miss Nellie Howard Yeager were married quietly at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Moody Kincaid, at two o'clock Wednesday afternoon, December 19, 1923, by Rev. H. H. Orr, officiating minister. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. McLaughlin left by automobile for Staarts Draft, Virginia, and other eastern points.

The bride is a daughter of C. A. Yeager, and is a popular and efficient teacher in the Marlinton schools. The groom is a son of the late George H. McLaughlin. He was a volunteer in the world war and saw many months of service in Europe. For a number of years he has been engaged in the pure bred cattle business in Virginia, but he has recently purchased a coal business in Marlinton.

We notice in the Pocahontas Times a Marlinton W. Va. paper, that L. O. Simmons received a letter of appreciation from the Davis Stuart School, an orphanage of Lewisburg, for a Thanksgiving Day gift of two barrels of vegetables. It is presumed that he raised vegetables himself although we vexed to guess just where he got the time. Possibly he had put a latrine on his plow. Mr. Simmons is a tall man, measuring over six feet, and lanky. One gets the impression from him of unbounded energy and this impression is substantiated when the fact of what he does comes out. Mr. Simmons is foreman of the construction room of the Times. On the side he runs a bicycle repair shop, and raises poultry. But there is something else for which he is known throughout the state—he is an expert in apiculture.—The Guide, published by the Virginia School for the Deaf and Blind.

SEEING JESUS

ANNA L. PRICE

"Sir, we would see Jesus!" How courteous, how complete, For the Greeks were a polished people In all things, save Christ, replete.

And they were of an inquiring mind, In the fine arts they exceeded, For sculpture, painting, poetry, To this day renowned and held.

The conquering Romans bowed to them, Roman youths were sent to learn In the schools of Grecian masters A name in the future to earn.

Paul the apostle went to Greece, He stood on Mars hill far away, And in view of idolatrous altars, Preached the one true God that day.

Did the people hear and understand? A few of the thousands there And they were Greeks who later asked "We would see Jesus, Sir."

I doubt not they did see Jesus, Who was waiting to see them too; It is never hard to find Him, If the heart be sincere and true.

If the young desired more to see Jesus, Than keep step with Vanity Fair, Its fashions, its pleasures, its follies, The Kingdom would come in the air.

Fellow Christians, the time is very short, For desert wandering here, And if only we see Jesus, The Promised Land is near. Dec. 1923.

Charleston—Pocahontas county's fire loss in November was $3,200, an increase of 611 percent over the corresponding month of last year, according to the report of the State Fire Marshal. There was one fire reported and the loss was partial, with $1,700 on property. The building attacked was of the wood type of construction. For five months of the fiscal year ending November 30, Pocahontas county suffered a loss from four fires of $9,100, an increase of 112 percent over those months last year. The West Virginia November fire loss was $340,970, a decrease of 447,537, or 12 per cent, from that month last year. For the five months the loss from 336 fires was $1,700,123, an increase of five per cent over the same period in 1922.

Editor Times:—An enclosing check for subscription to your valuable paper. The Pocahontas Times is a welcome visitor at our home every Saturday at noon. We are having our first snow storm today. Would liked to have visited my old home and friends in Pocahontas this fall, but as help is very hard to get on farm, it was impossible to do so. Our oldest boy and girl are in college this year.

Wishing for you and yours a merry Christmas and a happy and prosperous New Year. W. G. Cochran, Sunbury, Ohio, Dec. 13, 1923.

Norman Sharp, aged 17 years, was before the circuit court Monday morning on a charge of check raising. He confessed and was sent to the reform school at Pruntytown until he is 21 years old. This is his second offense, having been paroled. He is a son of Divers Sharp, who is now serving time in the penitentiary for stealing sheep.

Easter Gibson, a boy of 19 years, was before Squire Smith last Saturday on a charge of having whiskey in his possession. He was fined $100, and six months in jail.

STATE ROADS

Charleston, W. Va., Dec. 27—This is the "rush" period in that department of the State Roads Commission which handles matters pertaining to motor vehicles transporting passengers or property for hire. There are some 10,000 such vehicles to apply for 1924 licenses, and it is necessary to examine the bond or liability insurance of each one, in addition to the application.

The situation is considerably complicated by the fact that many of the applicants do not have a clear understanding of the new law. The statute passed by the last legislature, under which rules were formulated and placed in effect on July 28 of this year, requires either a personal or surety bond, or a liability insurance policy covering injury or damage to persons or property transported with in the vehicle, as well as to persons or property not being transported, who may be injured or damaged.

When insurance policies only covered injury or damage to persons or property not being transported, a bond was necessary even though the operator had such a policy. Now that the insurance can be obtained covering both classes of injury or damage, either a policy for the proper amount, or a bond, is sufficient. One or the other is absolutely necessary. It is found, that many applications misinterpret the law to mean that they must file both insurance and bond, while others have the impression that neither is required. Many applications are being received without the proper papers, which means a considerable delay in the issuance of the license.

Licenses will not be issued to those operating vehicles for hire, who have failed to pay the additional fee required by the rule which went into effect on July 20. There are approximately 1,000 of these, in all parts of the state. All of the others have either sent in the added amount, or have paid agents of the Commission.

The new fee is a flat rate of $75 a year for vehicles transporting passengers, which do not operate between fixed termini. Trucks transporting property for hire, and not operating between fixed termini, are required to pay double the amount paid by the same type and size not used commercially. Vehicles for which additional fee have not been paid are all in these two classes, since no difficulty is experienced in collecting from those operating over regular routes between fixed termini.

Bonds or insurance are required in the following amounts: Passenger service—For each vehicle of a capacity of ten passengers or less, two thousand five hundred dollars; capacity of twenty passengers, ten thousand dollars.

Freight service—For each vehicle of a capacity of three tons or less, one thousand dollars; capacity of over three tons two thousand dollars.

Other vehicles—For each vehicle of whatever capacity or for whatever service, one thousand dollars.

GOING SOUTH

Dear Editor: Perhaps a few lines from Florida in regard to our trip may be interesting to somebody I know in Pocahontas so I will give you a little news. If it escapes your waste basket I may write you again. I can only give you our trip this time as I just arrived Friday evening, and as this is Monday morning I have no chance to say much about the climate and products.

I saw the Editor as I came by Marlinton on "Thanksgiving Day" which was very damp and gloomy. It began to rain on my trip to come to Crabbottom, where I arrived about dark with one of my cousins. I soon had him under the influence of a Florida fever; said he could be ready by Monday if he could get a man to help his son feed for the winter. I went with him the next day in my car and soon found a man anxious for the place. Then I called a man by phone I had written to some days before. He said he was just reading my letter and could start by Monday he and his wife. Monday was a beautiful morning with a heavy frost and we were soon headed on our way, four of us; each a heavy suit case. Up to this time I had to use my chains, but I soon was on the old Staunton and Parkersburg pike in sight of Monterey my boyhood town. Here I discarded my chains and have not used them since. We were soon in Staunton where we remained for the night. I had run only 55 miles.

Tuesday was another bright morning and heavy frost; about 7:30 we were headed for Richmond 120 miles with the old Blue Ridge in front of us. I reached the summit on high gear, all the way, only changed once during the day and that was in Charlottesville. The street was crowded with wagons and I had to stop for low gear. I reached Richmond in four hours and forty minutes. Being early in the day we headed for Petersburg; the sun being high when we arrived we continued our way south until we came to Dinwiddie in Dinwiddie county where we remained for the night. About dark it began to rain and rained most all night. Next morning it was still raining knowing but we had a hard road. We again took up our journey having run 179 miles. Leaving Dinwiddie we made 140 miles to Raleigh N. C. Here we spent the night in the capital city. From here we made 180 miles to a small place in S. C. by the name of McBee 60 miles north of the capital of South Carolina. Friday was bright and frosty as it had been in Virginia. However we intended on a good day, we went through Columbia the capital of South Carolina. Reaching Georgia we passed the capital, Augusta making our best day, 180 miles, to Midville, Georgia, having passed two state capitals and several autos in the days run. My folks accused me of giving Henry the road on Saturday we only made 180 miles, to Waycross Georgia 80 miles out of Jacksonville. Here I expected to remain over Sunday. When morning came we had a good frost and my folk out voted me and wanted to make Jacksonville.

I had the "Dixie Highway" the best road I had found. Crossing the state line into Florida I struck a new asphalt road about 20 feet wide, smooth as a floor. My folks were passing jokes so I patented Henry on the neck, stroked his mane told him to do his best. I got him down to 40 miles, till the water boiled out around the radiator cap before I checked on the reins. This is the only time I ever did any racing. I wanted to know what a Ford would do in Jacksonville I will write again if this finds room in your columns.

The neighbors of the Wanless and Oliver communities gave a box supper last Saturday night. The proceeds amounted to $71.70, and were donated to Henry McCray, a blind man who is now at the Marlinton Hospital. Those who promoted the supper wish to express their thanks and appreciation of the hearty support given them.

Isaac Barlow butchered the prize hog of the season. It was a two year old pure bred Duroc Jersey that weighed 900 pound on foot and dressed out 750 pounds. This hog took the prize at the county Fair of 1922.

Mrs. Susan Malinda Pryor, (col) a faithful member of the Pleasant Green M. E. Church, near Seebert, departed this life December 7, 1923, aged 88 years. She had spent most her life in the service of the Lord. She was loved and respected by all who knew her, and often spoke of her many friends among the white people who were so nice to her. The funeral service was conducted by the pastor in charge, Rev. J. C. McPherson, assisted by others. She leaves two children, 16 grand children and 27 great grand children. Her body was laid to rest in the McNeel cemetery. A Friend.

Considering the improved appearance of the new Ford Touring Car, one would naturally expect a proportionate advance in price.

Larger scale production, however, has made it possible to incorporate in this new type touring car a number of decided improvements without increasing its cost to the purchaser.

A comparison extending over a long period of years will reveal the fact that the present price is actually the lowest at which the five-passenger open car has ever been sold.

The Ford Touring Car stands today, as it always has, a most remarkable value in the motor car field.
